

A close-up photograph of a person's open palm holding a small cluster of speckled seeds. The seeds are light-colored with dark brown or reddish spots. The background is a blurred green field.

The 3rd Annual Floyd County Seed Swap

March 5, 2016

Rome Floyd County Library

Public Lecture on Seed Saving Basics:

11:00-12:00

Seed Swap: 12:00-2:00

WHO: Berry College's Environmental Studies Program, Action Ministries Rome, Keep Rome Floyd Beautiful, the Rome Federated Garden Clubs, Inc., the Rome Floyd County Library and any interested farmers and gardeners

WHY: Farmers and gardeners have a legacy of heirloom seeds and plants that are in danger of being lost, and sharing of seeds and plants will encourage production of diverse varieties for posterity, food security, beauty, and sustainable landscape management.

HOW IT WORKS: Anyone can bring seeds or plants to swap or share. If you do not have seeds or plants, you could bring envelopes or garden implements or stories, anything to share or trade with other gardeners.

COST: None.